

Beyond Best Practices: Your Window into the Leading Edge of Organization Change and Strategic Human Resource Management

Gallagher, Flynn & Company is pleased to announce Beyond Best Practices, a series of seminars that will take an in-depth look at what the leading companies in New Hampshire and Vermont are doing to cut costs, increase effectiveness, and position themselves well in a rapidly changing future. This is your opportunity to learn how local leaders from various industries use their organization development and human resource capabilities to gain ground in their respective marketplaces.

Each seminar will feature a keynote speaker who will discuss how they are addressing a major challenge, and other companies who face a similar issue will weigh in as well, to help us get to the heart of what works (and what doesn't). We will be tackling some of the most pressing challenges facing companies today, and want to provide our participants with enough information so they can really see how an idea might apply to, and benefit, their company in each and every seminar. A recording of the seminar is available to all participants after the fact, free of charge, so you may view it again as your schedule permits or share it with others in your company. With this format we will hope to open up the conversation to as many companies, and industry perspectives, as possible.

The Beyond Best Practices series is a combination of a traditional in-person seminar and webinar. Our remote participants videoconference in to the discussion and engage in the conversation as if they were in the room. We encourage the use of webcams for our remote participants, but they are not mandatory.

Do you wish to participate in an upcoming seminar but have a conflict? Have you just realized you missed a must-see conference? Not a problem. Recordings of all our previously held seminars are available for purchase. You may view a list of our previously held seminars on our website (www.gfc.com).

We hope you will join us for these great discussions. To register, please contact Stacey Cheng at (802) 651-7207 or via email at scheng@gfc.com. For more information, please contact Frank Sadowski at (802) 651-7216 or via email at fsadowski@gfc.com.
